Preamble

This General Letter of Intent ("General LOI") governs your access to and use of any software, model weights, documentation, infrastructure code, research outputs, or associated materials within the Anticloud corpus, specifically including the L Homeassist module ("Software"), including but not limited to PAX L5 Narrow L2 General 27B, AIOSS format, KANTOR K5, Anticommons License, and all 199+ projects in the Anticloud repository.

By completing the installation process and signing this LOI (typing "I AGREE" when prompted), you ("User") confirm your understanding of and agreement to the terms below.

This General LOI permits only personal development, archival, testing, academic research, and educational use. Any commercial use, client-facing deployment, or use that reaches any external or private consumer requires an Enterprise LOI and Enterprise License.

Under this General LOI, you are permitted to:

1.1 Install and run the Software on your own hardware for personal development and testing purposes.

1.2 Study, modify, and experiment with the Software for academic research, education, or personal skill development.

1.3 Archive copies of the Software for personal backup and archival purposes.

1.4 Contribute to the Anticloud open-source corpus under the Apache 2.0 and Anticommons Enterprise License 1.0 terms.

1.5 Demonstrate the Software in non-commercial educational or conference settings where no client or end-user receives direct access to Software outputs as a service.

1.6 Fork and adapt the Software for personal study, provided attribution to Anticloud FZ LLE and ORCID 0009-0009-2233-6107 is maintained.

Article 2 — Prohibited Uses Without Enterprise LOI

Under this General LOI, the following are strictly prohibited:

2.1 Client services: Using the Software or any derivative to provide services, outputs, decisions, or analysis to any client, customer, employer, or third party — whether paid or unpaid.

2.2 External user access: Deploying the Software in any environment where external or private consumers (other than you personally) receive access to Software outputs.

2.3 Internal enterprise deployment: Using the Software within an organization of 2 or more employees for any production or semi-production purpose.

2.4 Revenue generation: Directly or indirectly generating revenue, tokens, credits, or commercial advantage using the Software without an Enterprise License.

2.5 API endpoints: Exposing the Software via any API, webhook, or network interface accessible by parties other than you personally.

2.6 Healthcare, legal, financial, government, or defense production use: Any use in regulated domains involving real data from real subjects without both Enterprise LOI and applicable compliance certifications.
